

NEWS RELEASE
MARCH, 2014

The Town of Hobgood has appointed Brian Pridgen of Cauley Pridgen, P.A. as its new Town Attorney, effective January 1, 2014. Town Administrator Thomas Ellis noted the firm's history of municipal representation in Eastern North Carolina as a key reason for the hire. "Cauley Pridgen has represented nearby municipalities for quite some time. Their firm has more than adequate municipal law experience to handle anything that comes our way." Following the appointment, Pridgen added that "We are excited to expand our representation in Halifax County and to work with the Hobgood Town Board of Commissioners and Staff. In recent years, Hobgood has undertaken a number of challenging community enhancement initiatives such as the restoration of its historic train depot and a soon to be completed Community Development Block Grant neighborhood redevelopment project. It is obvious that the Town of Hobgood is eager to promote economic and community growth and we look forward to assisting in their continued efforts."
