

NEWS RELEASE
MAY, 2014

Cauley Pridgen, P.A. is pleased to announce that David M. Rief has joined the firm as an associate attorney. “We are pleased to welcome David to our local government and litigation practice” said firm president, Jim Cauley. “David’s background and experience immediately brings additional depth to our growing local government practice.”

David’s prior employment experience includes positions as a municipal planner and certified building inspector. He earned his law degree from Regent University School of Law in Virginia where he obtained both his juris doctorate degree as well as a masters degree in Government-Public Administration. He earned his undergraduate degree in Business Administration from Appalachian State University. David is married and has three children. He will practice primarily from the firm’s Wilson and Kinston offices.

Cauley Pridgen, P.A. traces its history back to the 1940s and limits its practice to matters related to business, government and land. The firm’s lawyers have extensive experience in the representation of local governments and elected officials. For more information, contact the firm or visit our website.
