

NEWS RELEASE

DECEMBER, 2015

Cauley Pridgen, P.A. is pleased to announce that Francis P. “Razz” Rasberry has joined the firm. “We are pleased to have such an experienced and capable attorney join our firm’s local government and litigation practice” said firm president, Jim Cauley. “Razz’s years of experience in municipal law and his local knowledge of Wake County and the City of Raleigh are unparalleled. We are delighted that he is bringing his talents to serve our firm’s local government and private sector clients.”

Originally from Kinston, Razz was employed for over 20 years as Deputy City Attorney for the City of Raleigh, where he led that office’s real estate and eminent domain practices. Prior to his work with the City of Raleigh, he was staff attorney for the NC League of Municipalities, the lobbying and service agency for North Carolina cities and towns. He earned his law degree from UNC-Chapel Hill and his undergraduate degree from Washington and Lee University in Lexington, Virginia. Razz is married and has three children. He will practice primarily from the firm’s Raleigh offices.

Razz said “I am excited and gratified to join the Cauley Pridgen law firm, whose practice areas and eastern NC roots, I share.”

Cauley Pridgen, P.A. traces its history back to the 1940s and limits its practice to matters related to business, government and land. The firm’s lawyers have extensive experience in the representation of local governments and elected officials.
